

Cosmic Dolphin

BAND STORY

Formed in the 90's - Influenced by the 80's - Continuing their Cosmic Journey throughout the Noughties, the Cosmic Dolphins have been creating tunes since 1991. From bedroom beginnings of 4 track Amiga musings, through the 1994 Self titled EP known as the Flaming Man due to it's distinctive cover, main Dolphin Mark Shaw (now Morgon-Shaw) never stopped writing, even appearing in Computer Music magazine and being roundly slated for ' sounding more like New Order than New Order do themselves ' - (an honour in my opinion) . Numerous tracks were released down the years to swim around in Cyberspace, netting a No.1. position in the now defunct BT GetOutThere Chart. Spin Off projects followed - 1998's Universe saw an appearance in Sound on Sound magazine and a positive review, whilst simultaneously taking engineering & mixing responsibilities for funky monkeys ' Jam Jah Man ' demos amongst others. With an album in the pipeline that both reworks some of the best Dolphin's songs for the modern listener and a raft of new songs including a cover version of the Ten Planets classic ' Fallen For You ' the Dolphins hope to release an album of new songs calling upon the talents of musical friends from around the world.
