notes

“ Superfunkyjazzyrockinhiphopsoul” is the only way to describe the music of KADRAE, an artist who’ s on a quest to blend the best of old school and new school. Largely influenced by the music of Prince, Michael Jackson, Kirk Franklin, Stevie Wonder, Jimi Hendrix, Norman Brown, and Aerosmith to name a few, KADRAE’ S music covers a wide array of styles and genres making him accessible to a wide audience. As an artist, KADRAE writes, produces, sings and plays all of the instruments on many of his recordings.

In 2004, KADRAE began recording his current album, Eclecticism: The Journey, Part One. The album pays homage to all of the old school and new school artists as well various genres and styles that provide, the soundtrack KADRAE’ S life.

The first single, Put Your Hands Up (Letitgoletitflow), is a fusion of funk and jazz, with a tinge of rock. The single is currently receiving a lot of airplay on internet radio (www.idolunderground.com, www.fredio.com and www.netmusicmakers.com) as well as rave reviews from both critics and listeners alike. It is also currently available for download/purchase at www.flandmusicgroup.com, www.myspace.com/kadrae, www.snocaps.com, and www.lojazz.com for just $0.99.

Other songs from the album include a wide array of styles and genres. 45 Days fuses electronica, hip-hop, and
