

Lex Zaleta

BAND STORY

"

Still alive

"

LATEST NEWS

A Better Year

Looking forward to a better year in 2010 - for all of us!

I apologize for being able to get on here for only a few minutes every week or two. Life keeps intruding.

My last album of 2009, ASKING FOR FOREVER, is now available in the Album Store on my site - www.LexZaleta.com - for anyone who is brave enough.

May 2010 be a ten for everyone!

Grace and peace,

Lex

A Rudderless Ship

One moment your biggest concern is getting your son off to school on time. The next moment, you are making life and death decisions for your parents. Life comes at you from all directions. It comes hard, and it doesn't quit. You either keep fighting back, or you quit.

I've been fighting back harder than ever since November 14, 2008 when my dad passed away. There is no way to fill the void, no way to keep the dream alive. The lines of clamoring creditors with their mountains of paperwork demand immediate attention. I have given them what I can, and I have no more to give.

Time and again, I try to return to the music sites, try to post new songs, and try to review the work of my friends - but I lose my way. I am a rudderless ship with tattered sails. I made good time while I was whole, but I didn't really get anywhere. Now, I am adrift in a strange sea, and I've lost my compass too. The clouds hang heavy day and night, leaving no sun or stars to guide me. There are small leaks from stern to bow with no shoreline in sight. I have no choice but to keep on keeping on, sailing and bailing toward some dark destination. Some folks call it "Home."

STATS

Visits	Plays
4,535	2,457
Streams	Downloads
2,301	156

Featured Songs

- Way Back Home Rock
- Never Let Me Down Ballad

For additional information please contact us

©2012 Indie Music Works | The source for Indie Music, Indie Artists and Listeners